

Answers

1. Assist the government in their good work.
Presenting constructive criticisms.
2. Freedom
Rights
3. The way the legislature, executive and the judiciary are formed.
The powers of those institutions.
4. Ensures the regularity and the consistency of the administration.
Possibility of preventing rulers being arbitrary.
5. Presenting true and correct information.
Presenting unbiased information.
6. Everyone respects law.
Not superseding the law.