As soon as the Good Fairy waved her wand, the pumpkin became a coach and six White mice became ponies. It was now time for Cinderella to leave for the Royal Palace where the ball was to be held. The two ugly sisters had gone on ahead, not dreaming that Cinderella would follow. They thought that she would be sitting sadly at the hearth or doing the cleaning.

When Cinderella walked down the marble staircase, the Prince's eyes opened wide in surprise. Never had he seen such a beautiful girl. He crossed the ballroom and bowing low before her, he asked her to dance with him. The band struck up a tune. The handsome Prince and the beautiful maiden waltzed happily round the room, while the onlookers gazed in wonder. Whoever could this be who had stolen the heart of their Prince Charming?
