10 Read the following text and answer the given questions.

Crocodiles are fast swimmers. A crocodile swims silently by swishing its tail from side to side, paddling with its back legs. It lies low in the water, like a floating log, but able to see, hear and breathe.

Hungry crocodiles will eat fish, birds and larger creatures such as deer and rabbits. Waiting patiently just below the water's surface, they lie ready to snap up any creature that comes too close.

Mostly live in fresh water in warm parts of the world. On land, they usually waddle along on their bellies, but sometimes they run on all fours, with their bodies off the ground and their tails in the air. A crocodile cannot chew its food. So, after drawing its prey it shakes and twists the body to tear it into bite-size chunks.

- (1) How does a crocodile swim?
- (2) How does it wait for its prey?
- (3) Usually, what do they take as their food?
